

The Spiritual Significance Of Music

MARC ENFROY

As I started thinking about the spiritual significance of music, my mind drifted toward the impact music has on all of us, regardless of creed. The following words are my attempt to capture that sentiment:

Whether you believe in the power of prayer or the power of your own actions, whether you believe in a supreme creator or the evolution of the species, whether you believe in a holy book or just your conscience alone, whether you believe in organized religion or no religion at all, whether you believe in angels or only what you can see, whether you believe in the afterlife or just this life, there is a special place within each of us that only MUSIC can reach, and when it takes hold that experience is
SPIRITUAL
